Tucker's Counsel See Life in New Evidence AGAINST KNIFE AND PIN

Attempt to Be Made Next Saturday to Smash State's Case on These Points.

Hearing Will Be Held Before
Judges Sherman and Sheldon, the Trial Judges.

An attempt to smash the ten-year case files in the photo of circumstantial evidence that is dragging Charles Louis Tucker toward the electric chair will be under the hearing next Saturday before Judge Klugman and the grand jury presiding over the trial at which the condemned boy was found guilty.

This evidence that is to be smothered without which, in the opinion of many on the jury, the case is impossible to prove, has been difficult to connect Tucker with the trial, consists of the broken knife and the Canadian pin which were found under the body of Tucker's victim, hanging at the top of the door of his room.

It will be claimed by Medical Examiner Francis A. Harris and others as impossible to give such testimony that the Tuckers had been in the room with the body of the dead girl. Dr. Harris' bold change of opinion on this point alone the trial, when he testified that the murderer would have had a "strong, rugged, and somewhat unusual features" of the face.

Tucker's Own Pin.

It also has been claimed that the pin that was found in Tucker's skirt is the same pin that was for a time in the possession of Miss Page. It is the claim of Miss Page that Mabel Page had in her room, at New York, the maid in the Page house, Myrtle.

William F. Turner, a photographer, who is the brother-in-law of the assassin that Tucker owned, declares the pin has been able to so enlarge and reproduce the picture of the assassin that it has been found that it is the same pin that the assassin claimed was stolen from the Page house.

It is the claim of Miss Page that her close friend of Mabel Page, will swear that she never saw Miss Page wear and she never saw the pin in the possession of the Page house. It was represented at the trial that Miss Page offered the woman who was the friend of Miss Hiss, that she was not a witness at the trial and she was not a witness at the trial.

Never Worn by Page Girl.

She said: "Of course I could not say that Mabel had never owned such a pin and I could not say that she never owned such a pin, but what I do say is that though I have never seen her wear it, I have never seen her wear it."

It is the claim of Miss Page that she was never seen by her. She is especially notable while she was in mourning for her husband, and she was in mourning for her husband at the time of the murder described in the trial.

BUREAUCRATS PLOT TO DESTROY DOUMA

ST. PETERSBURG, May 21.—The revolution is once more on the brink of revolution, and the revolution is coming not from the oppressed people, but from the oppressors, the bourgeoisie, driven to desperation by the Duma, threatens to sweep away their prerogatives.

On all parts of the empire to-day counter-revolutionary forces are being organized, and it seems, in the "Black Hundred" and the aggressive, while in St. Petersburg there is a movement of the "White Hundred" against the Duma, formulated at a large meeting of the "White Hundred" yesterday.

The conspirators propose to surround the Duma with a force of 10,000 men, to surround the Duma, arrest the deputies and proclaim a dictatorship of the bourgeoisie.

They will then deal with the leaders of the revolution, and the revolution will be crushed, asserting they are acting in behalf of the Czar.

It is not clear how the report of the conspiracy may be ascertained. It is not an official report, and it is not an official report of the bourgeoisie class.

The committee asked Mr. Gethro if he had anything to say regarding the story that he had offered Representative Leonard of Springfield $50 for his vote against the anti-bucket shop bill, and had intimated that he knew where ten legislators could secure the same amount. Mr. Gethro denied the story.

He was before the committee just ten minutes, entering the room at 11:10 and leaving at 11:20.

"Did you tell the committee anything?" he asked when he came out.

Flood of Messages Tell Sympathy and Regret for Death of George McNeill.

FUNERAL RITE TO-MORROW

Labor and labor's friends all over the country, by telegram and messenger, have sent to the late home of George E. McNeill, who died at a private hospital in Somerville yesterday, warm expressions of sympathy and regret that a long, useful life is ended.

At 2 o'clock to-morrow funeral services will be held at the Third Universal Church in Cambridge, where the deceased for many years resided. Brief services will also be held at the McNeill home at No. 11 Highland road, Somerville. Special cars have been ordered to leave for the North Station at 12:30.

All Mourning Men Dressed.

Mr. McNeill's death was a great shock not only to labor circles but to the business world. As general manager of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co., he was one of the highest respect in the city. He was 58 years of age, and his death was a great loss to the insurance world.

Arrived suddenly on Friday evening, the physician declared that the only chance to save his life was by an operation. An acute cerebral hemorrhage was diagnosed. The operation was performed yesterday at a private hospital in Somerville. He never rallied from the effects of the operation. The end came at 2:30.

Wherever labor met on Sunday, there was a flood of messages of sympathy and regret that labor's champion was so suddenly and so unexpectedly taken from the world.

Flood of Messages.

Today the family is in receipt of many messages that tell of sympathy and regret. The funeral will be held at the Third Universal Church in Cambridge at 2 o'clock to-morrow.

Many times during his life, Mr. McNeill was honored for his work for the people. He was an ardent worker for the right, and he was a champion of the oppressed.

He was a man of great courage and great determination. He was a man who was not afraid to stand up for his principles, and he was a man who was not afraid to sacrifice for the good of his race.

In the future, when the father tells his children of his life, he will tell them of the many struggles and the many triumphs. He will tell them of the many times when he was alone and the many times when he was surrounded by a great crowd.

At the time of his death, he was in the prime of his life. He was a man who was full of energy and full of life. He was a man who was full of hope and full of faith.

He was a man who was full of love and full of compassion. He was a man who was full of kindness and full of generosity. He was a man who was full of all the good qualities that make a man a man.

Union Park Hall.

FIVE HOURS FULL OF FUN

Members of Boston's "Nesties" held a hilarious time at their fifth annual May party in Union Park Hall, which consisted of a banquet and entertainment. The session lasted five hours, and there wasn't a minute during the entire time. The boys exhibited the same spirit as they do when on the street selling papers, on the jump all the time.

Talent From Theaters

In order to make the affair a pleasant one several professionals from local theaters, including the ever-famous George B. Alexander, the "holer" king of the Old Town, entertained the boys. THAT BANKED FIRE IS EATING UP YOUR BANK ACCOUNT

UNDER THE BOILER, the expense keeps up—in the ravenous appetite for more fuel; day and night, awake or asleep—busy or slack. The man who pays the bill must sooner or later recognize the solution in

ELECTRIC POWER While that fire under the boiler is coming up and going down. YOU LOSE

It's the Old-Way Power. With Edison electricity; when that twitch of the switch simply says "ON"—"OFF"—YOU WIN.

It's the New-Way Power. Starts the instant you're ready;—Stops the second you're through.

Why Have the People Quintupled Their Use of Edison Power in 10 Years?

In 1895 we were furnishing 5,105 Horse Power. In 1900 we were furnishing 10,339 Horse Power. In 1905 we were furnishing 25,844 Horse Power.

Think it over, better still, let's talk it over—It only takes a cent by mail—or a minute by telephone (No. 1150 Oxford) and our man is right with you. When—please?

No engine No engine accidents No long breakdowns No engineer No fireman No banked fires No absences No labor No shirking No disputes No absences No dirt No dust No gases No smoke No ashes No cartage No extra space No coal No smells No explosions No danger No overtime charges No loss

You have to pay for all these things when you use steam power or own the engine.
